

Mastering New Verbal Patterns I

With Dan O'Connor

Learning Objectives

- Quickly add new powerful language patterns to your verbal repertoire – and have them automatically accessible when you need them – by combining various learning tools such as quick-reference cards, audios, and videos that help you change your language – and thought – patterns.

What Is a Reaction?

An action performed or a feeling experienced in response to a situation or event.

What Is a Reaction?

A person's ability to respond physically and mentally to external stimuli.

What Is a Reaction?

An adverse physiological response to a substance that has been breathed in, ingested, or touched.

What Is Your Phone Number Backwards?

Your Danger Phrase | Power Phrase List

Danger Phrase

Contract

My name is...

You make me...

Power Phrase

Paper work, agreement

I'm...

► Verbal Patterns for Implementing This Principle

The Hamburger

When you...

I feel...

Because...

How Well Is Your Brain Working?

Clarifying Questions

Repeat!

Clarifying Questions

Are you trying to...

Label Planting

Pleasure

Label Planting

Danger Phrase

Power Phrase

No problem

Pleasure

Label Planting

Choose a word or phrase you'd like people to use to describe you, your department, or your business!

Label Planting

Infuse your conversations with those words,
hopefully within the first 30 seconds

Power Strategy

The “Broken Record”

“That may be but...”

Power Strategy

Ask a duct-tape
question!

Power Strategy

Ask a closed-ended question!

Power Strategy

Give the 3-second look!

Power Strategy

The “but” rebuttal

Learning Outcomes

- ✓ Quickly add new powerful language patterns to your verbal repertoire—and have them automatically accessible when you need them—by combining various learning tools such as quick-reference cards, audios, and videos that help you change your language – and thought – patterns.

